In this tail end of winter with its bleak succession of drab days, it's hard to get out to a place with enough interest to dispel the gloom. In these photos, we return to such a shore. This is Quisset Harbor, which is so endowed with natural beauty that even in this season shows. In the summer, the harbor on our cover would be crammed with pleasure craft. Beautifully protected, it is bounded on one side by a nature trail and on the south shore is

MATTAPOISETT SELECTMEN'S MEETING
MARCH 14, 1989-by VIRGINIA MORGAN

The Personnel Board was asked by Selectmen last Tuesday to review a proposal for supplemental wages for those town employees who have achieved the maximum in the step wage scale. Personnel Board members present included Chairman Ridgeway Crouch, Stephen J. Lombard, James Alves and Robert Fay. They agreed to review the proposal.

The proposal is for non-union, fulltime personnel; 0 to 4 years, the position would pay the position rate; 5 to10 years, 5% supplement and for 21 years or greater, 10 percent for 20 years plus one percent additional per year. Selectmen noted those under union contracts have allowances for longevity, and "we have nothing to offer after the step maximum has been reached."

According to the Board of Selectmen, the non-union employees number about 14 persons and are still underpaid despite an effort in the past two years to upgrade the wages. This fiscal year is the third year of a salary plan proposed by a study group. In the first year there was an 8½ percent increase; the second year, 10 percent.

A fact sheet read by Selectman Bernard F. Talty showed Mattapoisett salaries to be less then other corresponding-sized towns.

Planning Board Chairman Crouch commented you have to look at duties of the people compared. Mr. Crouch said, "Personally, after seeing my tax increase, I may not be as willing to give increases. In the past two years we've addressed increases." Selectmen Chairman William F. Hubbard responded, saying, "We still aren't where we belong with non-union salaries. There's no one else to speak for the town employees."

Planning Board member Lombard said, "I don't care what other towns pay, I say it's how you value your employees. It's all perspective. And, it depends on what you can afford."

Chairman Hubbard said Selectmen will seek a five percent salary increase for non-union, fulltime employees and will review a longevity supplement. The board also wants to put back a requirement for the supervisor to review an employee at maximum step. Selectmen asked the Personnel Board for guidelines on how employees should be rated. Member Lombard recommended employees' evaluation forms.

Mr. Hubbard noted it is in the union contracts that the Personnel Board should review the contract and merit increases. Mr. Crouch and Mr. Leonard agreed they have never seen one union contract. Mr. Crouch asked Selectmen if they felt a member of the Personnel Board should be included in union contract negotiations. Mr. Lombard explained a Personnel Board member would not bargain (this is the Selectmen's job) but could be present to be made aware of changes when they occur. Selectman Talty said this might be a good idea and this will be discussed at a later date.

Additionally, Selectmen asked the Personnel Board to prepare a vacation schedule based on length of time worked.

On another matter, a custodial/maintenance position was discussed to serve various town departments. At the present time, even with cleaning services, an electrician has to be called to change light bulbs, Town Hall employees do some of the vacuuming and Selectman John N. DeCosta has done minor repairs in the Town Hall.

On a similar subject, Selectmen asked the Personnel Board to consider a part-time person to handle the accounts of the Fire Chief and the Highway Department, at approximately $4,500 per year. At the present time the Town Accountant does the Fire Chief's bookkeeping and a Highway Department family member is volunteering that department's bookkeeping services. When Manuel R. Nunes was Highway Surveyor Mrs. Nunes did the bookkeeping at a budgeted salary of $7,000.

Another session will be held with the Personnel Board on March 28th.

In other business, Selectmen:

RECEIVED COMMUNICATIONS from Town Accountant Karen Long on several matters. She has been given approval to conduct a three-year audit of the town's books with Browne and Barrett at a total cost of $37,000 for the fiscal years 1989 through 1991. Fiscal year 1989 will be done first at a cost of $12,500.

The accountant submitted a list of articles from town meetings that have outstanding balances to date. She requested permission to either close out the articles or keep them for transfers at the annual town meeting. Some are as small as $1. and others as large as $14,000.

son and the Water/Sewer Commissioners have been asked for their recommendation. The articles include from 1983, design/cost for sewer expansion, $2,914.83; 1986, sewer manhole and pipeline inspection, $600; 1977, sewer project appropriation, $14,000.; and 1986, water sample testing, $360.

The total sum of $72,647.82 remains in the Overlay Surplus accounts from 1983 through 1987. The accountant asked if these funds can be returned as available funds for the annual town meeting.

AGREED to pursue the purchase of a used 1985 3/4 ton, four-wheel drive truck for the Shellfish Department.

Selectman Talty noted Shellfish Constable Brian Nunes has requested a truck at the annual town meeting to replace the present one which is rusty and "on its last legs". Selectman Talty reported on a suitable truck for sale that has been checked by town mechanic John Bowman and found to be in good condition.

ANNOUNCED there is an opening for a volunteer member on SRPEDD (Southeastern Regional Planning and Economic Development District). Anyone interested in planning should submit an application to Selectmen's office. Meetings are held CANCELLED a scheduled executive session with June Mendell, Executive Director of the Mattapoisett Housing Authority, to consider the purchase, exchange, lease or value of real estate. Another date will be scheduled.

A previous concern of the Housing Authority with the lack of response from the Board of Assessors regarding the board's cooperation on a state grant the Authority has been seeking has been resolved. Selectmen said the Authority proceeded with the grant application without the Assessors' cooperation.

straighten the record pertaining to comments made last week by Peter Kortright, Chairman of the Mattapoisett Growth Management Committee. "Speaking as an individual, I would consider the Growth Committee's data invaluable. As far as operating as a joint group, it doesn't seem workable for 20 to 30 people. We should have representation and I suggest we get something going."

Mr. Matthews gave Selectmen a press release which explained the Mattapoisett Planning Board had formally initiated work on preparing a Growth Management and Land Use Plan (GMLUP) to guide the development of the town during the 1990s. Professional consulting assistance on the project is being provided by Burk Ketcham, AICP, the principal of Burk Ketcham and Associates of Cohasset, under contract with the Board of Selectmen. Funds to undertake the $35,000 assignment have been donated to the town by the Keller Company of Hingham.

Mattapoisett last conducted a comprehensive growth plan and analysis of the community in 1965 when the town's first and only Master Plan was completed. Although the Master Plan has served the community well, it is out of date; it no longer reflects the dynamic development issues facing the community. Over the years, the Southeastern Regional Planning and Economic Development District (SRPEDD) has conducted special planning studies for the town. Most recently, at the request of the Board of Selectmen, SRPEDD assisted the Mattapoisett Open Space Committee in preparing the 1989 Comprehensive Open Space and Recreation Plan.

In commenting on the current planning project, William H. Matthews, Chairman of the Planning Board, noted that "every effort will be made to obtain the public's views on how Mattapoisett should grow." Mr. Matthews stated, "The work would be divided into several phases." The first phase will be the preparation of a Community Diagnosis which will review all prior planning and engineering studies and identify major issues which must be addressed in the plan. As part of the Community Diagnosis, major boards and committees of the community will be contacted.

The second phase will cover the adoption of Preliminary Goals and Objectives for the growth of Mattapoisett and the preparation of several Alternative Concept Plans to carry out these goals and objectives. The alternative concepts will be presented to the community at a public workshop where all participants will be given an opportunity to express their views. Following the workshop, the Planning Board will select a preferred plan or adoption during phase three. To facilitate public understanding, the Growth Management and Land Use Plan will be printed in a summary format for wide distribution in the community.

The fourth phase will cover recommendations for implementing the plan. Mr. Matthews observed, "This probably is the most im-

The Planning Board will be reviewing proposed Zoning By-Law revisions as well as other regulatory changes which will help Mattapoisett to avoid the problems faced by communities closer to Boston which have not guided their growth wisely." The Planning Board will be directing its efforts towards a Special Town Meeting in the fall of 1989. Mr. Matthews advised that "adequate opportunities will be given to the public and the development community to work with the Planning Board and their consultant during phase four."

To facilitate its work on the planning project, the Planning Board will schedule special meetings with Burk Ketcham. Mr. Matthews urged "all interested citizens and property owners to write to the Planning Board or contact any of its members regarding community growth and development issues. Under state law, the Planning Board is charged with the responsibility to develop a reasonable and wise set of plans for the future."

Music Man EDITORIAL DCJ

Saturday, at the final concert of the Tri-County Symphonic Band's 1988-1989 season, John Pandolfi was named Director Emeritus by his contemporaries who honored him for his inspirational leadership for 26 years. The man who formed the band and led it for over a quarter century handed over his baton to George A. Dietzler at the conclusion of last season.

John Pandolfi for most of these years based the band in the Mattapoisett/Marion sector and the majority of their concerts were heard in the Old Rochester Regional High School Auditorium by packed houses. Now the music resounds in the beautiful Zeiterion Theatre. Most of us have fond memories of our own favorite performances and we won't ever forget.

It takes a powerful, magnetic personality to weld together individuals to merge themselves into a single unit - the team. John has that drive and personality. That is what built the band that royally entertained us and continues to do so. How many times have we been part of an audience transformed by the power of this group playing as one great entity and we envied John who held such power at the sweep of a slender wand. We, the audience, saw and enjoyed the polished result. Only John and his band members know the dedication and practice that produced each performance. In his speech of thanks, John referred to this dedication, to the loyal support of his wife Nancy, to the members of the band and to all of the many people who worked behind the scenes to make this band the best it could be.

We consider ourselves, the whole community, to be the richer for the Symphonic Band.

Thanks for those memories, John Pandolfi, and thanks for all the highs to come.

Center School's Visiting Artists

March is "Youth Art Month" in Massachusetts, as designated by the Massachusetts Art Education Association. Part of Center School's celebration of the month includes the visitation of tri-town area artists during art class time. The following artists have agreed graciously to share their talents with our young "Van Goghs":

Ms. Nancy Mitten, a Marion based painter specializing in oils. Ms. Mitten's work is in private and corporate collections across the country, and Ireland. This is the second year that Ms. Mitten has participated in the celebration.

Ms. Sandra Lothrop, a Rochester watercolor artist specializing in seascapes, landscapes and cottages. Ms. Lothrop's work has been shown in galleries on Martha's Vineyard, as well as in Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

Ms. Debbie Chase, a Mattapoisett silk-screening artist. Ms. Chase owns a business in Mattapoisett that specializes in textile design as well as logo design and other forms of design.

Ms. Meg Roberts of Mattapoisett, an artist specializing in acrylics. Ms. Roberts is well-known in Europe for her detailed paintings on eggshells, furniture and handmade wooden boxes. The local appreciation of her talent is growing quickly since her move to Mattapoisett in December 1987.

The artists will be visiting during the last two weeks of March, and will be compensated partially for their time with funds from a grant provided by the Massachusetts Arts Lottery Council.

AIDS Awareness at O.R.R.

S.C.O.R.R. (School and Community for ORR) offered an AIDS Awareness program at Old Rochester Regional High School on March 15th. The day included two assemblies during the morning and smaller discussion groups during the remainder of the day. The administration and staff were able to rearrange the normal day's schedule to enable every student to take part in both programs.

The assembly centered around a panel of professionals in the field of AIDS: Dr. H.R. Chowdri, Father Bruce Cwiekowski, Chris Connolly and David Alves.

Dr. Chowdri is a physician practicing in the field of infectious diseases in the Greater New Bedford area. Apart from his private practice, he has also opened an AIDS clinic in New Bedford to enable AIDS patients to obtain treatment more efficiently.

Father Bruce is a Chaplain at St. Luke's Hospital in New Bedford and also a member of the AIDS Task and Support Group. He has experience supporting AIDS patients and their families and friends through the entire spectrum of AIDS -- diagnosis, illness, death and grieving.

Chris Connolly is an AIDS education coordinator for Project Care AIDS Advocacy Center for South East Regional. She specializes in AIDS education. She works with groups, schools and individuals from age 6 years through adults.

David Alves is the Executive Director of the Red Cross for the Greater New Bedford area and a member of AIDS Task Force. Mr. Alves is also dedicated to educating the public on the subject of AIDS. He works with schools and groups sharing his expertise in the field.

The other programs during the day were smaller discussion groups where the students met with a PWA (person with AIDS) speaker. These speakers are part of a new educational program offered through Health Care of Southeastern Massachusetts, in collaboration with the Department of Education and with the support and advice of the Department of Public Health. Randy Yates is the coordinator of this program. The program is designed not only to give students information about the disease and how to prevent it, but also to explore the human costs of the tragedy of AIDS and the students' own risks, by having them meet a person with AIDS face-to-face. "Health education is difficult with healthy, young people who don't see their own risk to disease. This program seeks to introduce students to a person with AIDS to help them understand that they are, indeed, vulnerable should they engage in various unprotected behaviors", explained Randy Yates. "The Department of Education wants to continue to help public schools bolster and expand their AIDS education programs. The PWA Speakers Program is a valuable educational tool. Somehow this disease isn't real to students until they see it. Meeting someone who may be very much like themselves who has AIDS helps them to see their own risk", said Kevin Evanston, AIDS educator for the Department of Education.

In addition to the day's programs, Bay 8 has filmed the assemblies of the PWA speakers and will broadcast this program in the near future so that our communities may also benefit from this educational experience. We will post the date of the broadcast on the board in front of the school and also place it in our local newspapers for your convenience.

SCORR would like to thank these professionals, PWA speakers, Bay 8, our local newspeople, and our High School administration and staff for helping us present this program. We endeavored to bring to our students and communities a program that would enhance education of and increase sensitivity to a devastating disease -- AIDS. We hope all have benefited from this experience as much as we have.

The Lloyd Center for Environmental Studies in South Dartmouth is offering a free weekly walk on Sunday, April 2nd, from 4 p.m. until dusk to search out these denizens of soggy thickets, and the public is invited to attend.

This is the time of year when these sandpipers are most likely to be spotted, according to Lloyd Center Research Assistant Dave Christiansen, who is leading the program.

Being a basically private and mysterious bird, the woodcock comes out in the open only during breeding season, which is early spring in Massachusetts. Mr. Christiansen says that participants of the walk will see and hear male woodcocks flying overhead, twittering as they advertise for a mate. Since each male holds a territory, it may be possible to get very close to the calling bird when he sits on the ground.

The "Woodcock Watch" and other weekly walks are offered free to the public with support generously donated by Marianne MacDonald Real Estate in South Dartmouth. Pre-registration is required, however, so call 990-0505 to reserve your spot, or if you would simply like more information on Lloyd Center offerings.

Participants will meet at the Lloyd Center, should dress very warmly, and bring along a pair of binoculars to ensure getting a good, close look at these common birds of the east.

Docents sought for Lloyd Center

If you like the outdoors and working with children, the Lloyd Center's Docent Program is for you. "Docent Day" is an open house for anyone interested in finding out how to be a volunteer educator at the Lloyd Center, and will be held on Sunday,. April 2, from noon until 3 p.m. at the Center on 430 Potomska Road, South Dartmouth.

As a docent you will be trained in the natural history of the southeastern Massachusetts region; you will be given tips on how to lead a tour or program; you will meet new people; but most of all you will feel the satisfaction of sharing your time and talents with others.

The Lloyd Center for Environmental Studies, located in South Dartmouth, is a not-for-profit research and education organization dedicated to educating the public on coastal and estuarine resources and issues. We are in a prime location to do this since the Center is located on 55 acres of freshwater wetlands, oak-hickory forest and extensive salt marshes. Trails wind through the pro-

Docents are needed this spring and summer to help handle the increasing participation of our educational programs such as Coastal Field Studies, Weekly Walks, and Estuary on Wheels Traveling Laboratory. With docents on our team of researchers, educators and administrators, the Lloyd Center will be better able to serve the people of southeastern Massachusetts.

We are seeking individuals who are interested in learning more about the coastal and marine environment, and in sharing this knowledge with elementary and middle school students as well as the general public.

In the Coastal Field Studies Program, students investigate salt marshes, estuaries, and other fascinating habitats in the coastal region for a unique learning experience. Not only will you as a docent be able to stretch your knowledge of the coastal zone and experience a non-traditional educational setting, but you will be working with dedicated professionals in a challenging work environment who will teach you how to teach.

Another program, Traveling Laboratory, brings a marine experience into the classroom for those schools unable to visit the shore. Highlights of this program include "Flexi the Flounder", a 7 foot summer flounder made of fabric that can be unzipped

From Old Colony

QUESTIONS ABOUT OLD COLONY ANSWERED

Do any of these questions ever occur to you? Why should I consider a vocational-technical education? Do vocational-technical graduates go on to college? Is there a way to explore career options before selecting an area to study?

These questions and others are answered in a new single page brochure printed by the students in the Offset Printing Department at Old Colony Regional Vocational Technical High School. The brochure attempts to answer eight basic questions which youngsters have about vocational technical education. The brochure is available to members of the community by calling Old Colony's Guidance Office at 763-8011, Ext. 26. Old Colony accepts youngsters from the towns of Acushnet, Carver, Mattapoisett and Rochester. In addition, a limited number of students from Freetown and Lakeville attend.

The materials for the brochure were made vailable through a Federal Grant without cost to the school.

SHADOW PROGRAM

If your child is considering applying to Old Colony Regional Vocational Technical High School but cannot make up his/her mind, the new "Shadow Program" may be helpful.

The "shadow program" is designed so that a student may spend an entire school day at Old Colony. The eighth grader is matched with an upperclassman in the shop of the student's choice.

According to Paula Simmons of Old Colony's Guidance Department: "The shadow program allows the child to experience first-hand a typical day in a vocational technical program. It may help a student to decide whether or not Old Colony is an appropriate educational option."

In order to participate in the program an eighth grader should contact their guidance counselor and express their interest

As even avid, die-hard birdwatchers know, distinguishing similar-looking bird species apart can be a daunting task. Participants in this course will learn useful techniques such as features in plumage characteristics, behavior, and vocalizations as ways to properly identify birds in the field. Also, tips on how to correctly age locally abundant birds such as shorebirds and gulls will be part of the field identification lectures and demonstrations. In addition to field identification will be a review of the classification, habitat preferences and general natural history of most of the major orders and families of birds regularly found in southeastern Massachusetts.

Instructor for the course is Wayne Peterson from Massachusetts Audubon Society. Mr. Peterson wrote species accounts for the Audubon Society Master Guide to Birding and was a contributor to the recently published Audubon Handbook, Eastern Birds by John Ferrand. He has also taught bird identification courses for many groups, in cluding the Manomet Bird Observatory and the Cape Cod Museum of Natural History.

The entire course will include lectures on April 4th and April 18th, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., and two all-day field trips to areas in the southeastern Massachusetts region on April 9th and April 23rd. These field trips will feature locating a variety of early spring birds and applying the tech-

eye talk

Q. Is our 14-year-old daughter old enough for contact lenses?

A. The key to successful contact lens wear is getting a thorough examination, keeping the lenses clean and sticking to wearing schedules.

If your daughter can follow instructions and is conscientious about hygiene, she is probably ready for contacts.

Be sure she gets the right care. Schedule an eye examination with an optometrist who offers all types and several brands of contacts; gives a 30- to 60-minute examination plus a thorough lens fitting evaluation; and requires follow-up visits during adaptation and periodically thereafter.

Be wary of extremely low-priced contact lenses. Often, either less care is given or extra costs are added, making the total price higher than package prices quoted by others.

Optometric studies show teens' grades and psychological attitudes often improve as a result of wearing contact lenses instead of glasses.
